

Linguistic fieldwork: an intensive introduction

Working with native speakers of an unfamiliar language is a challenging yet highly valuable research skill. To facilitate the understanding of the issues involved, the Institute of English Studies offers a week-long intensive course on linguistic fieldwork. The course will be taught by Professor Peter Austin (SOAS University of London) and Dr Charlotte Hemmings (University of Oxford). The course sessions will take place on May 13–17. To sign up, please send an email to Marta Ruda (marta.ruda@uj.edu.pl). Space is limited and will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis. Both students and faculty are welcome.

Course programme

Monday, May 13, 16:45–20:00, Paderevianum B, room 107

- Session 1:* Setting the scene: fieldwork, documentation, description, revitalisation
 Break
- Session 2:* Research methods in linguistic fieldwork

Tuesday, May 14, 16:45–20:00, Paderevianum B, room 107

- Session 1:* Ethical issues in linguistic fieldwork
 Break
- Session 2:* Data management, metadata and archiving

Wednesday, May 15, 15:00–18:15, Paderevianum B, room 108

- Session 1:* Audio basics
 Break
- Session 2:* Practical audio

Thursday, May 16, 16:45–20:00, Paderevianum B, room 103

- Session 1:* Overview of linguistic analysis software
 Break
- Session 2:* Practical ELAN

Friday, May 17, 16:45–20:00, Paderevianum B, room 104

- Session 1:* Fieldworks Language Explorer (FLEx) OR ELAN/Praat
 Break
- Session 2:* Mobilisation and archiving case studies

Marta Ruda and Mateusz Urban
The Organisers